1. The MERSBURG (W 52/D #1) airfield was not occupied by Soviet Air Force units. Three cantonment buildings at the north-western corner, and the buildings on the eastern edge of the field were occupied by German police who guarded the field. The construction work at the field was completed. The sodded landing field had a small concrete area in the center and a taxiway extending to the north-east. Plates looking like targets or boundary markers were erected on both sides of the taxiway and the concrete area.
2. A large section of the field was surrounded by a board fence. An armored train and four heavy railway guns of German make were standing on the spur track on the southern edge of the field.
